

Before you start:

- Remove any items from your bike that could fall or block the driver's view.
- Wait until the bus completely stops, and signal to the operator you're going to load your bike.

(Be sure to allow an arm's length between the rack and your body!)

1. While supporting your bike with one hand, use the other to squeeze the handle and lower the rack completely.

2. Place your bike into the available bracket closest to the bus, with the front wheel facing the direction that's indicated.

3. Keeping the bike steady, use your other hand to pull the holder hook and lift it over the front tire, securing the hook as close to the bike frame as possible.

Your bike is now secure!

A few more tips:

- Let your operator know when you will be getting off, and plan to exit using the front door.
- Please return the bike rack to the upright position if it's empty after unloading your bike.
- Always take your bike to the curb before continuing your journey, rather than riding immediately into traffic.
